Briefing Schedule for Admiral Rabora

REFERENCE:

Action Memerandum No. A-452, dated 16 April 1965

I. In accordance with Mr. McCone's wishes, attached is a revised briefing schedule for Admiral Raborn. The DCI has indicated that he believes it preferable that the Deputy Director level of the Agency brief Admiral Raborn in depth prior to scheduling a briefing by each effice. This has been accomplished in the attached schedule by arranging for either a morning or an afternoon to be available to each of the Directorates. Detailed office briefings can be arranged for a later date, but the Deputy Directors may wish to have their office chiefs present during their briefings.

2. Anticipating that unexpected changes may be necessitated in the briefing schedule, the previous instructions that in Admiral Rabern's office will be the focal point for such changes are still in effect. If changes are required, the cancelled briefings will be scheduled whenever there is a break in the Admiral's commitments so addressees are requested to keep their schedules flexible in order that the briefings may be fitted in as soon as possible.

SUBJECT : Briefings for the New Director

- I. At the Executive Committee Meeting this morning Mr McCone directed that the detailed briefing schedule published last Friday, the DD/S portion of which was transmitted to you at our Staff Meeting, be scratched. In lieu thereof he desires that a more generalized and broad-brush briefing be given by each Deputy Director, with possibly the Assistant Deputy Director present. This can then be followed by more detailed briefings by the Office Heads but on a deferred schedule which might last a month or two instead of the compressed schedule which would have lasted a week or two. So, I will probably get about two hours sometime within the next several days to explain the entire Support function to Admiral Raborn. Hopefully, each Office Head will have an opportunity for a more detailed briefing later
- 2. In order to assist me in making my presentation as comprehensive as possible. I should like from each DD/S Office Head by close of business today a topical outline of the points I should cover about his particular office. Supporting statistics and supplementary information are welcome. Please bear in mind that I will not be able to spend more than ten or fifteen minutes on your particular office.

L. K. White Deputy Director for Support

* Not signed--dictated to the secretary of each DD/S Office Head.
